

I feel that more deregulation of the media would hinder consumer awareness. We the people need diverse information not commercialized propaganda. If entire geographical areas are controlled by one conglomerate, the people in that area would be submitted to receiving information from a centralized power, and in America we are taught to be weary of centralized power. Please do not repeal laws that protect the American consumer who is already losing to Corporate America.